Tech Tip #33: How to leave the ProDOC pending area open

Do you find yourself reopening the pending area in ProDOC throughout the day? Did you know that this window can be set to not close automatically?

These settings and features may not be available for all clients, if you do not see them please contact your solution provider*

Admin users can set this up in the ProDOC.ini file by adding the line LeavePendingOpen=1 under the [Setup] section. This can be set per PC or can be pushed out to all users by adding the setting to the ProDOC.ini on the server in the upgrade path.

If you have any questions about this feature, please reach out to our Client Development team.
